Announcements Continued

"The Hopeful" - A movie about the development of the Seventh-day Adventist Church will be showing in theaters in Knoxville on April 17 and 18. (Regal Cinebarre at West Town Mall and other Regal theaters.) In a world where faith is tested and miracles are questioned, we find William Miller, a man whose belief in God hangs by a thread. Surviving the chaos of the War of 1812, he's left grappling with his purpose, haunted by the divine intervention that spared his life.

But when Miller stumbles upon a prophecy that shakes the very foundations of his existence – the impending end of the world – he's thrust into a journey of revelation and redemption as he spreads his message across a landscape of believers and skeptics alike. Amidst the turmoil, a young woman named Ellen Harmon emerges as a beacon of light. Moved by Miller's words, she becomes a force to be reckoned with, igniting a firestorm of faith that sweeps across the land. But Ellen's journey is just beginning. As she embraces her calling, we witness the birth of a new movement, the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Go to TheHopefulMovie.com
